To whom it may concern

South Africa's Small-Scale fishing communities continues to be hard hit by the global COVID-19 pandemic. As a representative of the commercial fishing sector in South Africa, FishSA believes that it has a patriotic duty to assist those who are unable to support themselves during this pandemic. With livelihoods at stake and government, particularly Department of Environment, Forestry and Fisheries ("DEFF") doing its best to assist, we believe those who have the means to provide relief to these communities should put their best foot forward.

In the last few weeks FishSA has been on the ground mobilising fishing companies and individuals in the drive for food donations. Thousands of food parcels and financial donations have been received and DEFF has distributed some across the coastal provinces with our assistance.

We would be grateful if you could assist by donating to our initiative as follows:
